

COLORADO LEGISLATIVE REPORT-March 19, 2025

It has been a busy legislative season for both Colorado and Wyoming. I have gone from my home in Lake City, CO to Denver to Cheyenne.

Here is a picture of the Wyoming Capitol to show you a little bit of what the winter has been like and where I work. I'm used to it after many years of being a missionary to these two state capitols.

The Bible studies that I lead for the young staffers are very rewarding for me and them. They take their lunchtime to study the Bible with me and I provide lunch for them. I sure would appreciate your financial help in providing these luncheons!

I was able to break away from the state Capitols to attend the Shepherd's Conference at Grace Community Church in Los Angeles with other Capitol Commission ministers. There are 18 others working under the banner of Capitol Commission.

[left to right: President Brad Harbaugh, VA State Minister David Andersen, me, Ron McMillin, NV State Minister, Bill Heitzinger, AZ State Minister]

The missionaries of Capitol Commission are like missionaries to any group in the world.

Unless the Lord builds the house,
those who build it labor in vain.
Unless the Lord watches over the city,
the watchman stays awake in vain.

This phrase comes from Psalm 127:1, which emphasizes that without God's guidance and support, human efforts to build or protect will be in vain. It highlights the importance of divine assistance in all endeavors.

Help me to give God's guidance and support to the men and women of these state capitols who desire to build their states and protect them as Psalm 127:1 says.

Dan File

Dan File
Capitol Commission
Colorado and Wyoming State Minister
P.O. Box 1088, 9000 CR 30
Lake City, CO 81235-1088